Sabrina Buchanek (above) has joins Cups 'N Strings Studios as re-recording mixer and sound editor, announces studio owner and chief engineer Bruce Maddocks.

"We've experienced considerable growth in our post-production work and Sabrina's expertise has enhanced our reputation and allowed us to expand efficiently,." says Maddocks.

In the world of film (Species and The Fantastiks) and television post-production (Inside Look: Down From the Mountain, Run for Cover and Dial H for Hitchcock) award-winning mixer and editor Sabrina is well-known for her mastery of sound. In several television series such as The Crusaders and For Better or For Worse she has handled all aspects of post-production sound, including editing, sound design and mixing music, dialogue and effects. As a music recording engineer and mixer proficient with analog as well as the latest digital technology, she has worked with Fleetwood Mac, Robert Palmer, Missing Persons, Jimmy Jam and Terry Lewis, among numerous others.

A graduate of Indiana University with a degree in Recording and Audio Reinforcement, Buchanek is the recipient of Promax Muse Gold and Silver Awards, Aurora Platinum and Gold Awards, Omni Silver and Bronze, and AXIEM Silver Awards for her work on promos and trailers including Hannibal, Gone in 60 Seconds, Ace Ventura Pet Detective and X-Men.
